Facilitator Una McAlinden led the arts commission in a series of exercises related to the arts visioning process and the further creation of the commission's work plan:

Arts Commissioners revisited the arts and culture plan, including the vision elements and strategic directions. McAlinden led the Commission in a strategic directions discussion.

Commissioners discussed nurturing relationships with key stakeholders and engaged in a problem reversal exercise as well as crafted solutions and strategies related to connecting with key stakeholders.

Commissioners broke into small project teams to work on developing the workplan for 2016-2017. Teams reviewed specific implementation projects; created detailed action plans and placed actions into the timeline.

In closing, the group reviewed the feasibility of the workplan items, selected project leaders and set a check in schedule to be revisited monthly.
